NAVAL RESERVE NOW ACCEPTING ENLISTMENTS FOR IMMEDIATE ACTIVE DUTY

The Naval Reserve Training Center at Gulfport announces that commencing immediately and until June, men may be accepted for immediate active duty for a two-year active duty tour, in addition to remaining in a drilling status.

Prior to January the policy was to retain the Naval Reserve enlistee in a weekly drilling status and to send him on two years active duty after graduation from High School or College if he were attending school. If not in school, retain the Reservist in a drilling status for a 15-month period by which time he should have been promoted to Seaman or Fireman, two promotions. This retention policy is still in effect. The new policy, however, also permits the new enlistee a choice to enlist and to be sent immediately to a two duty tour for two years with the Mediterranean, Atlantic or Pacific Fleets after completion of his 90-day recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill.

This new policy was adopted in order to fill seagoing billets now unfilled due to Naval Reservists taking advantage of specialized training offered to them prior to reporting to active duty. This training is in such fields as electronics, Radio, Gunnery, Machinist training and various other fields obtained at Training Schools of 8 to 38 week duration.

The Commanding Officer of the Gulfport Naval Reserve Training Center, Lieutenant Commander R. A. Thompson, further announced that under the new policy five such immediate active enlistments would be accepted from the Mississippi Gulf Coast for the month of January.

Interested men may obtain further information from the Gulfport Naval Reserve Training Center on Broad Avenue in Gulfport any day of the week, or on Tuesday drill nights at 7:30 p. m. or by calling 864-2883.

MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION TIME IS HERE AGAIN

Annual motor vehicle inspection time has arrived again. Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong released a summary of 1963 Motor Vehicle Inspection Division activities and made the following statement, "There are almost 800,000 vehicles in the state that come under the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law requiring inspection. We encourage owners of these vehicles to come in and have their inspections made now to avoid the end-of-March rush. Each year there are a few that postpone the job until the last minute. This works a hardship on the driver and the Inspection Stations. There are almost 1200 stations located all over the state. There is one in your town or nearby. Take your vehicle in now and have it inspected."

The summary, released at the same time showed a total of 795,901 vehicles inspected during 1963. There were 1097 rejections. Almost 60 per cent of all vehicles inspected required no adjustments. Of those required some adjustment, 12 per cent needed adjustment in lights, 10.8 per cent to brakes and 5.7 per cent to steering. The average cost of repairs and adjustments to cars was only $1.42.

The Inspection this year will cover the same items that have been covered in past years, brakes, lights, steering, tires and windshield wipers.

Each of the three years the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law has been in effect has seen a reduction of the number of vehicles requiring adjustments to pass the inspection.

A do-it-yourself retirement plan that really works

Just a few pennies a day invested now in U.S. Savings Bonds can help you build security for the future.

Here's a retirement plan you can set up yourself, administer, yourself with no fees or expenses, and go into with absolute confidence.

Start with Series E Bonds

You begin by buying E Bonds where you bank, or automatically on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. When you hold them for 17 years, 9 months, you get almost double your money back—$1.93 for every $1 invested.

When you retire, you can exchange your E Bonds for H Bonds. H Bonds pay interest to you semi-annually in cash—at 3.75% when held to maturity. There's no charge for trading. And the interest you accumulated before the trade is not taxable until you cash in your H Bonds.

A riskless plan

A U.S. Savings Bonds retirement plan is completely without risk. Your money keeps on growing, guaranteed by the Government. You can get it anytime you want—with interest. And if your Bonds are ever lost or destroyed, the Treasury replaces them free.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT

... If you're planning to build a new home or remodel your present one, consider these important advantages of flameless electric heating:

- WARRANTY-FREE MAINTENANCE: Properly installed electric heating systems last the life of the home, require no regular servicing.
- CLEANLINESS: Reports from home-makers show that in homes with electric heating, dusting time can be cut an average of 60 per cent.
- EASE OF OPERATION: Temperatures automatically stay within one and one-half degrees of thermostat setting, respond quickly to change.

There are many more reasons why modern electric heating systems are growing in popularity. Your electrical contractor, or nearest Mississippi Power Company will be happy to explain them to you.

Does Arthritis Run in Families? March of Dimes Scientist Asks

By Ephraim Engleman, M.D.
Chief, Arthritis Clinical Study
Center
University of California
Medical Center
San Francisco

It is a common observation that "arthritis runs in families." Arthritis and rheumatism, foremost crippling diseases today, affect almost 11,000,000 men, women and children in the United States alone. It appears that rheumatoid arthritis usually strikes people who have near-relatives suffering from the same disease.

Does this mean that rheumatoid arthritis is an inherited disease?

Or can it be that people sharing similar environments react to some damaging aspect of those environments by developing the condition called arthritis?

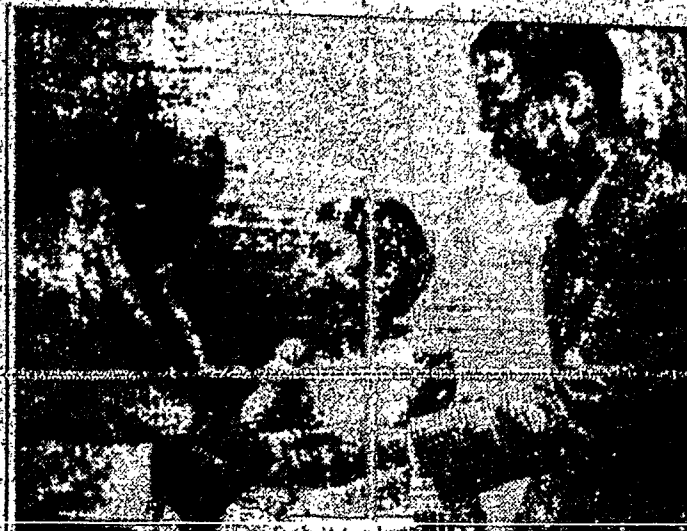

There is only one way to begin to find the answers to these questions, and that is to do scientific studies which will replace speculation with facts.

Seeks Clear Picture

One study, by itself, will not come up with definite answers to these two questions. Medical men have puzzled the beginning of time. But each study adds to the knowledge we already have, and in time, the bits of the puzzle may fall into place and present a clear picture.

Currently, our arthritis center has initiated a broad-scale, long-range study of arthritis patients and their families, including spouses (not related by blood), as well as children, grandchildren, parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters. We hope that ultimately this study will yield some light on whether rheumatoid arthritis is caused by heredity or environment—or possibly, both.

This project is one of several in our center which is searching for new techniques of patient care to relieve the suffering of arthritis victims, and also training doctors and other medical personnel to give better care.

Under a March of Dimes grant, we are studying 120 families residing in northern and southern California. In this project, some 420 patients and relatives are being examined and tested in the laboratory.

Further information about them is being accumulated through periodic questionnaires. This is important, because we need to have information that can be accumulated only over a period of time.

Aiding in our survey are numerous March of Dimes volunteers from National Foundation chapters in California. These volunteers personally contact patients and their relatives who do not answer the questionnaires mailed to them at three-month intervals.

In our work, we see daily examples of volunteers who are dedicated to the principles of The National Foundation, because they have collected the funds which support our center, our entire study and other vital work throughout the nation. In addition, these volunteers now are giving freely of their time and effort to help with a part of the task in progress.

The questionnaires which the volunteers deliver in person seek information about a patient's symptoms since his last clinical check-up, and about certain events which are thought to serve as "precipitating factors" of rheumatoid arthritis.

"Precipitating factors" are in quotation marks because we do not know whether the events listed do trigger an attack of rheumatoid arthritis, or whether they do not. We are attempting to determine if these factors include worry, or strain brought about by such things as the death of a friend, or a member of the family, or the stresses that come with changes in occupation, salary, residence or marital status.

In addition to the family study, other research at our March of Dimes Arthritis Center includes investigations of how immune reactions contribute to arthritis, studies of more effective means of using gold as a treatment, and radiologic studies of systemic lupus erythematosus, which is another disease in the "connective tissue group," related to arthritis and rheumatism.

OYSTER DREDGING BEGINS FEB. 1 IN MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi's oyster dredging season will open at sunrise, Feb. 1, and last 23 days, according to an ordinance adopted Monday night at Biloxi by the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

The commission also lowered the minimum size requirements of the oysters from three to two and one half inches, upon recommendation of Marine Biologist William J. Demoran.

"MORE BENEFICIAL"

Demoran, in his written recommendation, which the commission followed, said he would not recommend additional dredging after the season closes at sunset, Feb. 28.

"I believe that a dredging season during the period suggested and for the duration suggested will be more beneficial to more people than at any other time," Demoran stated.

"I am sure that we will get a better yield per barrel of oysters during this period than we did last year, thereby making the operation more profitable for those involved in both the canning and the raw oyster business, and causing a better production to go on the market," he added.

During dredging season last year, which was split into shorter periods, a record harvest was taken from the state's offshore reefs.

Although the harvest will not be as great this season, according to predictions, a productive year is expected, with the quality of oyster meat superior to last year's.

In other action at the monthly meeting Monday night, the commission agreed to send its chief inspector, George Williams, to Battle Creek, Mich., for two weeks in February to attend the Civil Defense Management School.

Action was taken after Robert Crook from state Civil Defense headquarters, informed the agency that it would be necessary to send someone from the commission to the school in order to receive financial assistance. Williams is the agency's Civil Defense coordinator.

Executives from the Mississippi State Health Department asked the commission's assistance in halting the sale of raw oysters in containers that aren't sealed.

We request that you notify all market managers not to offer for sale any oysters which are in violation of these regulations," Henry M. Jones, sanitary engineer for the health department, asked.

"We find few outlets in Mississippi that are now handling screw-type containers, and most of this product is coming from Louisiana. We are instructing all outlets where we find screw-type lids to refrain from purchasing any more," said Dr. A. L. Gray, health department's executive director.

The commission announced that it will hold a special dinner meeting Thursday starting at 6:30 p. m. at Baricov's Restaurant.

INTERSTATE CONNECTION BIDS ASKED

The State Highway Commission will take bids Jan. 28 on a temporary connection between U. S. 90 in Mississippi, John D. Smith, commissioner for the Southern district, said today.

I-10 in Alabama is under construction from the state line to Mobile, and Smith said the connection will be built prior to opening of the Alabama link. It will permit east-west traffic to use U. S. 90 across Mississippi, and the new interstate between the state line and Mobile.

No construction contracts have been awarded on I-10 in Mississippi. Engineering is in progress across the entire route, however, and a public hearing has been held on the section through the Coast continues.

NEW RAILROAD WORK RULES CRISIS LOOMS

WASHINGTON—After a six-month cooling off period and forced settlement of two issues, the railroad work rules dispute appears to be headed for another crisis next month.

Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz, conceded as much Monday when he announced that the federal government would again be stepping in to try to mediate the dispute, now nearly five years old.

Wirtz, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, and Chairman Francis A. O'NEIL Jr. of the National Mediation Board met this week in closed session with the railroads and five operating brotherhoods.

Wirtz met late Monday with railroad representatives; then the unions, and finally, with both sides. Later he explained that the talks centered on "making the best use of the time that lies ahead of us."

On Feb. 25 a congressional deadline for settlement of the so-called second issues—issues not settled last November by compulsory arbitration—runs out and a nationwide rail strike could begin.

The issues involved in the current negotiations include such topics as wage structure, certain road and yard jobs, interdivisional runs use of self-propelled equipment, night shift differentials, holiday pay and expenses away from home.

Wirtz hedged on any prediction that an agreement could be reached and said he hadn't talked to the negotiators about how much progress they had made in their weeks of bargaining.

There were strong indications earlier from Chicago that progress has been slight.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, told a news conference there would be a nationwide strike unless the railroads relented on their insistence on what he said would mean "severe wage reductions."
